Applications open for Trainers: Nursing Leadership for Surgical Excellence Pilot Program

Are you interested in training perioperative nurses in Ethiopia and Liberia to develop their leadership, research and patient safety skills?

Lifebox is looking for nurse educators and facilitators who are passionate about supporting the development of future surgical nursing leaders. Do you have the ability to deliver high quality, creative and practical skills training? If so, we want to hear from you!

As a trainer you will join a team delivering nurse-led, non-technical and clinical skills training to perioperative nurses who are taking part in a new pilot program - Nursing Leadership for Surgical Excellence. NLSE offers trainees a 9 month Continuing Professional Development course, consisting of an 11 module curriculum and mentorship to support them to design and implement a Quality Improvement project in their facility.

Training will be delivered both virtually and in-person, your location and expertise will guide which sessions you are responsible for. Modules include: Leadership, management and communication, Research, Quality Improvement, Perioperative nursing, Surgical safety checklist, Surgical instruments, Pain assessment & management, Post-operative care, Infection prevention and control, IT skills and Professional development. You will work both independently and in collaboration with other trainers to facilitate sessions, as well as supporting the program team to maintain training records and provide feedback to improve educational materials.

Rates: $50 half day, $100 full day (subject to local taxes). Minimum 6 hours of teaching expected per month. Reporting to the Program Manager. Induction training & ToT November - December 2022. Expected start date 23rd January 2023. For more information on Lifebox's purpose and our programs please explore www.lifebox.org
